

The Taskforce pilots

The pilots are particularly aimed at understanding how to expand education and employer partnerships into harder to reach activities or schools and types of schools currently less engaged.

If you are involved in similar activity, have some good practice ideas or examples to share, or fancy exploring how this project could help support your needs, please contact Christian Christian.Percy@educationandemployers.org.